Study/Career Plans:

I plan to focus my studies on microbiology and learn more about how different things affect neurotransmitters. After graduation, I could see myself pursuing a medical degree, with a specialization in anesthesiology, and then devoting about five years to volunteering in South America as a medical missionary.

Other Information:

High School: In high school, I was a member of National Honor Society, Leo's Club (the teen volunteer club affiliated with our local Lions Club), and student council. I was student council vice president my junior year and president my senior year. As a member and leader of the student council, I organized the fall Homecoming Dance, the annual Salvation Army Toy Drive, and Red Cross Blood Drive. Being encouraged to take part in a lot of service work during high school has made me realize my passion for helping others and has inspired my dream of working as a missionary in South America sometime after graduation. In high school, I also played on the varsity lacrosse team and was a team captain both my junior and senior year. I helped start the lacrosse team during its very first year (my freshman year) and pushed to get the team school sanctioned my sophomore year. Additional hobbies of mine include art (I was in Art Club in high school) and yoga, as well as sewing and baking.
